

beeld: atelier pro

Verwaltungsgebäude IKK, Saarbrücken

Located in the Quartier Eurobahnhof in Saarbrücken, Germany, the new office building of IKK Südwest accommodates approximately 1000 workspaces. The building brings together the organisation's various offices, which were scattered across Saarbrücken, under one roof. The project consists of a main building with underground car park and five office floors. The office spaces are grouped around an atrium that serves as a connection and reception area. In the west and east wing, two-storey communication zones were created, which are connected via a void and provide a visual link between the indoor and outdoor areas through large areas of glass. Opposite the main building is the annex, which is mainly used as office space.

The buildings had to meet the highest requirements in terms of sustainable design, construction and operation.

Ontwerpteam project architect Alex Letteboer, Martijn de Visser, Constanze Knüpling, Menno Roefs

project architect competition Alex Letteboer, Berit Piepgras, Martijn de Visser, Karho Yeung

projectleider
Ronald Peters, Martin Busch

design team
Allard de Goeij, Jannetta Roozendaal,
Martin Busch, Priet Jokhan

technical guidance
Ernstjan Cornelis

Projectteam
collaborative architect WW+ GmbH

structural engineer Schweitzer GmbH

project manager WPW GmbH

landscape designer
Manfred Leibfried

photography
Johannes Maria Schlorke

